State Data Download and State Production Status in State Only
June 13, 2008

1. PURPOSE

Under the Local Employment Dynamics (LED) partnership, the Census Bureau processes input data from partner states and produces Quarterly Workforce Indicators (QWI) data files according to established schedule<sup>1</sup>. This document established the standard procedures for LED to post and for state partners to access their State Production Status (SPS) and State Data Download (SDD) of public use files in the State Only section of the LED website<sup>2</sup>.

2. BACKGROUND

The QWI production process is defined to start from the receipt of both Unemployment Insurance (UI) wage records and QCEW (a.k.a. ES202) firm wage records from the state partner to the dissemination of both QWIPU and SPFRU files to the state partner.

After receiving input data files from a state partner, LED produces a set of QWI data files and distributes them to the state partners by DVD. The typical set of QWI files includes 22 compressed data files<sup>3</sup> in the csv (comma separated values) format; 4 text files<sup>4</sup> that describe the file layout, version, manifest, and column definitions; and one SAS program file<sup>5</sup> for importing the data files into SAS.

SPS provides a status report on QWI Production for the state partner. SDD offers a one-stop alternative for authorized individuals to download some or all of these public use files of a state partner in the LED website. User names and passwords are needed to access this capability in the State Only section of the website; they are managed by designated state information technology contacts (SITCONs) and their backups<sup>6</sup>. A list of the designated SITCONs is provided at the entry pages of the Partners Only and State Only sections in the LED website.

SDD will also allow electronic download of other data files that may be loaded and specified for downloading.

3. PROCEDURES

- a. Visit <http://lehd.did.census.gov>.
- b. Select Partners Only under Quick Links and then State Only.
- c. Select a desired state from State Only.
- d. Select State Data Download or State Production Status.
- e. Enter specific user name and password.<sup>7</sup>
- f. Select a release<sup>8</sup> and the desired file(s) for download or view production status.
- g. Repeat step f as needed.

4. NOTES

- a. Download speed will vary according to the user's telecommunications speed and file size. File size is listed to assist assessing the amount of required download time.
